

EXPLOSIONS ON THIRD DAY OF DISASTER

RACING TRAVELERS START
LAST LAP OF GLOBE TROT
BY AIR FROM WILLIAM HEAD

Pilot Eddie Hubbard Nearly an Hour Late in Trip Here
From Seattle to Meet the Record-breaking World
Circuiters, Evans and Wells; Passengers of Empress
Liner Cheer and Sirens Shriek as Voyageurs Depart

Although they suffered slight delay this morning when they arrived at William Head aboard the Canadian Pacific Ss. Empress of Asia from the Orient and found that Pilot Eddie Hubbard was not waiting for them with his seaplane, as they had expected, Edward S. Evans and Linton Wells eventually "hopped off" on the last leg of their globe-circling race for New York at 5:51 a.m. today. They confidently expected to shatter the old-established record for a round-the-world jaunt by seven days. Fellow-passengers aboard the Empress of Asia cheered the air voyagers on their way. Evans and Wells were whisked away with incredible swiftness once Hubbard brought his plane to a landing nearly fifty minutes behind his schedule.

Pilot Hubbard was expected at the quarantine station, William Head, at 5 o'clock this morning. That was the Empress of Asia's scheduled time of arrival from across the Pacific. She carried the two men who are attempting to shatter the record established by John Henry Mears in 1913. In their race around the globe, they embarked in launches to greet the great ship. Their work had to be accomplished in as short a space of time as possible. As soon as Hubbard arrived the world-circling travelers would leave the ship and fly to Seattle. From a launch alongside the Empress, newspapermen conducted their interviews with the great fliers. They could not board her as the quarantine doctor had not come aboard to clear the ship. Hubbard, as Hubbard still failed to appear, there came a tension over those who were relying upon him, and they feared some misfortune for the intrepid airman.

World Girdlers
Leave Pasco For
Boise by Air

Pasco, Wash., July 12.—C. S. Evans and Linton Wells arrived here at 11:35 o'clock this morning. Just 26 days and 12 hours out of New York on their trip around the world. They left a few minutes later for Boise, Idaho, in an air mail plane.

Chicago, July 12.—Eddie Hubbard, local aviator, left early today for North Platte, Neb., to carry Edward Evans and Linton Wells to New York. He is the last lap of their round-the-world dash against time. Evans and Wells are due at North Platte from Seattle to-morrow morning.

EXODUS TO LAKES AND BEACHES AS HEAT WAVE COMES

Thousands Flock to Country and Sea Shore For the Week-end

Beaches, parks, lakes, inlets and the countryside called Victoria yesterday as the thermometer passed the seventy mark and nearly touched eighty degrees. The heat wave which Napier Denison, of the Gonzales Observatory, prophesied, arrived with full force during the week-end, and although the weather was mild when compared with the scorching heat of New York or Chicago, to Victorians, unaccustomed to extreme heat, it was hot enough to drive them to the beaches or the cool shade afforded by tall timbers for relief.

FISHING
Fishing at up-island spots claimed hundreds of sportsmen, many of whom left Saturday and spent the night camping ready for early morning catches. At Sprout Lake, Shawinigan, Campbell River, Qualicum, Nanaimo and other points the fish are biting well and excellent catches were reported.

For those staying nearer the city the beaches, parks and the Gorge proved attractive. The banks of the Gorge were literally lined with people all day Sunday. The bathing places were packed all day and the waters were alive with canoes and boats. High divers from the Gorge bridge interested crowds on the bridge watching them. Several ladies and a young boy of not more than twelve years of age were among those who plunged from the lofty platform.

AN UPSET
Some excitement was caused by a collision between a great fisherman by a dozen swimmers riding the current swirling up the Gorge under the bridge.

Three Murders in
Suburb of Chicago

Chicago, July 12.—Cicero, turbulent west side suburb of Chicago, was the scene of a triple slaying early today.

After mortally wounding a taxi chauffeur, a number of men accosted a young man and woman in front of the latter's home and demanded their automobile. When the man remonstrated both were shot and killed as they sat in the car.

The slayers fled.

The chauffeur died in a hospital. Police later arrested one suspect.

Start Last Lap of Race Over Globe in Hubbard's Seaplane

Edward S. Evans, millionaire sportsman and traveler, who was the first man to drive from Winnipeg to Victoria by automobile without touching American soil and who now is on his way to complete a race for a new record in completely ruggeding the world's surface, is smiling figure in the air helmet. His companion, Linton Wells, American newspaper reporter, is beside him, bareheaded. Pilot Eddie Hubbard, the third figure, flew the men to Seattle this morning and then came back for the Empress of Asia's American mail.

SEPTEMBER 14 IS EXPECTED TO BE GENERAL ELECTION DATE

Ottawa, July 12.—Tuesday, September 14, for the Federal general election is the date with which gossip in Ottawa has most to do today.

At the conclusion of a meeting of the Cabinet this afternoon, Premier Meighen had no announcement to make and declared probably none would be made by him to-day.

Right Hon. Mackenzie King, after a rest at his country home, has practically completed his plans for a coast-to-coast speaking tour. He has not decided the exact date on which he will embark on his tour, but a definite announcement is expected soon. It is said both Mr. King and Premier Meighen intend to make their opening speeches in Ottawa.

and Received Ovations

When Mr. Meighen announces his cabinet, it probably will include at least three without portfolio, namely: J. A. McDonald, former Minister of Public Works of Prince Edward Island; Dr. Morand, late M.P. for Quebec, Ontario, and Donald Sutherland, late M.P. for South Oxford, Ontario.

There is every reason to believe Mr. Meighen is approaching the end of his task with regard to the representation from the Province of Quebec. A number of leading Conservatives from Quebec, including Hon. L. G. Bailey, Postmaster-General in the previous Meighen Government, conferred with Premier Meighen this morning.

ANNOUNCEMENT SOON
Ottawa, July 12.—Politicians came back to Ottawa to-day to begin another week of quiet activity in preparation for the general election. The date of the polling is still to be announced. So is the personnel of the new Meighen Cabinet. It is not likely Premier Meighen will make these public to-day. Tuesday, possibly Wednesday, will reveal the plans of both party leaders.

Meanwhile rumors as to the Cabinet are rampant. Senator G. D. Robertson, former Minister of Labor, was looked on as a certainty for some portfolio.

Canada Till Willingdon Ar-

Ottawa, July 12.—Baron Byng, Governor-General, will remain in Canada until the middle or latter part of September, though his term will expire next month.

The date of the Governor-General's leaving is always a matter of arrangement between himself and his successor in the office. As Viscount Willingdon has not been long in England after a trip to China, it is not thought he can arrange to arrive here before the latter part of (Continued on page 2)

DIED AT HOME
IN EASTERN U.S.;
JOHN W. WEEKSJ. W. WEEKS DIED
IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

Ex-Secretary of War of U.S.
Was Sixty-six Years of Age

Manchester, N.H., July 12.—John W. Weeks, War Secretary under President Harding and Coolidge, died here to-day. He had been ill for a long time.

It was generally assumed in the event the Republican Party won the national election of 1929 that John W. Weeks would be a member of President Harding's Cabinet. His selection for Secretary of the Navy or Secretary of the Treasury was regarded as certain. His success as a financier was recognized. His graduation at Annapolis and experience in naval affairs had been recorded as fitting him for the navy secretaryship.

NATION SURPRISED
A big surprise came, however, when President-elect Harding announced he would appoint Mr. Weeks as Secretary of War.

A rich life-experience in the sixty years preceding the appointment was found to have equipped Mr. Weeks for that duty also, and he soon was recognized as a "fortunate selection" for the army, then facing the post-war problems of reorganization and reduction to a peace-time basis.

It was said of him that he "sold into his job" more easily than any of the cabinet officers and grasped the comprehensive details of army administration with a thoroughness and quickness that spelled confidence throughout the War Department for the staff officers and hundreds of subordinate chiefs.

Moroccan Sultan
Is Visiting Paris

Paris, July 12.—Paris to-day received a distinguished and unusual visitor in the Sultan of Morocco, Mulai Youssef, who has come at the invitation of the Government to participate in the celebration of Bastille Day and to attend the opening of a new mosque here.

He was accorded an imposing official welcome.

CAPITALIST BUYS
BRIDGMAN BLOCK
FROM H. R. LEECH

H. D. Lombard, Beverly Hills
Financier, Here With Party on Private Yacht

In a sale consummated to-day Harry R. Leech, Santa Monica realty operator who is now making his home in this city, turned over his title to the Bridgman Building, 604 Broughton Street, to Harry D. Lombard, Beverly Hills capitalist. The building, well-found business premises on the north side of Broughton Street, east of Government Street, was purchased by Mr. Leech and an associate six weeks ago.

ARRIVE ON YACHT
Mr. Lombard, accompanied by his wife and party, arrived in the city to-day, when his palatial new seventy-foot cruiser, the Muriel, dropped anchor in the Inner Harbor.

The Beverly Hills capitalist was in the city last year during the first auction sale of city lands and was a heavy purchaser here at that time. He is now returning to take part in the second auction sale of city lands, to take place July 29, 30 and 31.

Mrs. Lombard is already an enthusiastic admirer of Victoria and its beautiful surroundings and predicts that the present interest created by the city auction sale will lead to a definite and steady trek of Californians to Victoria with the object of investing and settling here.

END OF UP-ISLAND AFTERNOON
MAIL SERVICE SENDS FLOOD OF PROTESTS TO GOVERNMENT

Telegrams of protest are pouring into the Post Office Department at Ottawa from Vancouver Island business interests to-day, following the unexpected withdrawal of the afternoon mail service from Victoria to Up-Island points on the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway. The mail car was dropped from the E. and N. train this afternoon, thus putting Victoria businessmen at a serious disadvantage in their dealings with Up-Island cities.

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce led the movement of protest against the withdrawal of the former mail service. In a telegram to the Post Office Department the Chamber expressed its indignation at this serious blow to Victoria business. Hon. S. F. Tolmie is being asked to support this protest.

The message from the Chamber of Commerce was followed by a score of other telegrams from business interests all over the Island. In these the Ottawa Department is told that scrapping of the afternoon mail service means the wastage of a full day in the transmission of mail from Victoria to Up-Island points in a majority of cases. It is pointed out that Victoria letters written in the morning instead of going up the Island in the afternoon will not be cleared from here until the following morning.

VANCOUVER BENEFITS
The effect on Island business will be serious, leading business men said today. Besides the new arrangement up-island points will be in closer touch with Vancouver than with Victoria. With a quick mail service through Nanaimo and from there south to Duncan, Vancouver business houses will be able to offer points from here to Duncan much better service than can Victoria houses. This will deprive Victoria of much business which it controls at present, it is feared.

KING OF BULGARIA
MAKES TRIP ABROAD

Unexplained Departure From
Sofia Starts Much Talk of Abdication

Geneva, July 12.—The mystery surrounding the departure of King Boris from Bulgaria was deepened to-day when the Bulgarian legation here told the Associated Press it was without information of the king's reported intention of coming to Geneva, or even in taking a trip abroad.

There were reports from Vienna that Boris was contemplating abdication.

Boris, thirty-one-year-old king of Bulgaria, left Sofia Saturday on the first trip out of his country since his accession to the throne in 1918.

DENIAL IN PARIS
Paris, July 12.—The Bulgarian legation here to-day categorically denied a report from Sofia that King Boris intended to abdicate.

NEW JERSEY FIRE
MENACES GREAT
MUNITION PILES

With Seventeen Deaths in Navy Magazine Disaster of Saturday at Lake Denmark Counted, Wind Shifted To-day and Carried Fire to Store of Powder Until Then Safe and Exploded It; Fourteen More Magazines in Danger

Dover, N.J., July 12.—A revised list of the casualties in the explosions at Lake Denmark, New Jersey, this afternoon showed seventeen persons killed. Only three of the bodies had been identified.

New York, July 12.—Another naval magazine exploded this afternoon at the Lake Denmark ammunition depot when a sudden shift of wind sent fire caused by previous explosions roaring down upon it, according to word received from Rear-Admiral Plunkett. Fourteen more magazines were said to be in the neighborhood and in danger of being ignited.

Dover, N.J., July 12.—Authorities to-day began counting the toll of lives exacted in a series of terrific explosions that wrecked the United States Navy's largest ammunition depot at Lake Denmark, New Jersey, on Saturday and wrought devastation throughout the countryside to an estimated total of $100,000,000.

Following the cessation of blasts which intermittently had rained shrapnel and debris on the neighboring territory, rescuers penetrated the scene of the disaster to-day and removed fourteen bodies out of the wrecked buildings. It is believed a number of other bodies will be found in the tangled mass of wreckage. The search is being conducted with extreme caution for fear that isolated explosions may add to the death toll.

Of the total of more than 250 who were injured, only a small percentage to-day are confined to hospitals. The area adjoining the arsenal to-day represents a scene of desolation. Houses over a wide-area were leveled to the ground, debris was strewn throughout the district, and foliage and vegetation is littered. Some parts have the appearance of a veritable battlefield with its crater-like shell holes.

CAUSED BY LIGHTNING
Flames which started when lightning struck TNT magazine Saturday afternoon still smoldered among the debris of 200 buildings demolished within the reservation limits and danger from further bombardments as new ammunition stores were reached, made it dangerous to enter the area early this morning.

Roads leading to the devastated area are under close military guard, the soldiers assigned having difficulty in keeping out curiosity seekers.

AWAY FROM DANGER
The 400 or 500 refugees from the villages of Mount Hope, Rockaway, Denmark and Hibernia, who stumbled from their homes as they began to fall about them following the first blasts, were content to remain out of the danger zone to-day.

Army and navy officers in charge of the rescue work said it might be three or four days before the flames would die down sufficiently to permit a complete and careful investigation of the area.

900 REFUGEES
T. Buchanan, assistant national director of disaster relief from Washington, estimated there are 900 refugees from the area surrounding the naval arsenal at Lake Denmark.

The injured according to Mr. Buchanan, number about 250, of whom fifty are severely but not dangerously hurt.

So sudden came the initial blast that precautions for safety could not be taken. The flash of lightning was followed by a terrific blast which sent flames 400 feet into the air, the concussion crushing the brick and stone houses like eggshells.

Then followed showers of fourteen or fifteen-inch shells.

LIKE BATTLEFIELD
"It is like a scene from the western front," General H. A. Drummond explained after an inspection of the reservation.

Nearly all evidence of the green grass and the shrubbery which had made the place a beauty spot had disappeared, he said, and in their places were brown earth and shell-holes, some of them 100 feet across and thirty feet deep.

The roads are scattered with staves, twigs and limbs of trees, timbers from wrecked buildings, scraps of metal and other debris.

Not one of the 500 army buildings is undamaged. Roofs are scattered across the lawns and driveways, broken glass litters the yards and areas, furniture and other household effects are shattered and crushed and are lodged in all sorts of places.

FRENCH AND BRITISH DEBT PLANS MADE

Caillaux Agrees With Churchill on Repayment Terms For France

London, July 12.—Finance Minister Caillaux of France and Right Hon. Winston Spencer Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to-day reached a complete agreement on terms for repaying the French war debt to Great Britain. The terms will be published to-morrow.

An official communique giving the result of the conference said:

"M. Caillaux reached a complete agreement with Mr. Churchill on the outstanding points in connection with the funding of the French war debt to Great Britain, and a definite funding agreement was signed by the two Ministers on behalf of their Governments."

"The text of the agreement will be published Tuesday."

SYLVIA GAINES FUNERAL HELD

Seattle, July 12.—While tears ran down the cheeks of a handful of persons about him, Wallace C. Gaines, dry-eyed and with no visible emotion, sat stolidly Saturday night for fifteen minutes through the funeral service for his daughter, Sylvia, whom he is accused of murdering. He did not see the body. The accused father was taken to a mortuary, where the rites were spoken, a guard of two deputy sheriffs and a private detective accompanying him. Gaines' wife, his brother, William A. Gaines, and several friends attended the funeral. Sylvia was killed during the dusk hours of June 16. After thirteen days of investigation by city and county officials, Gaines was arrested and charged with first degree murder. The trial is set for August 2. After cremation, the ashes were shipped to Sylvia's mother, Mrs. H. E. Maynard of Lynnfield, Mass. They separated sixteen years ago and from that time until Sylvia came to Seattle last September on a visit, she had not seen her father. Sylvia Gaines was twenty-two

GARAGE FATALITY

Walla Walla, Wash., July 12.—Samuel Miller, thirty-seven, who came here three months ago from his home in Michigan, North Dakota, to work for his brother, J. L. Miller, an automobile dealer, was almost instantly killed yesterday when a compressed air tank he and a companion were filling exploded, and a fragment struck him in the head, mashing it badly.

DOZEN DROWNINGS IN EASTERN CANADA

Two Suicides and Two Auto Fatalities

Ottawa, July 12.—About a dozen drownings occurred in Eastern Canada over the week-end. Among the fatalities were the following: Harry Seler, eighteen, and his brother, Norman, seventeen, were drowned when attempting to wade across the Nottawasaga River near Collingwood, Ontario. Matthew Gregory and Joseph Grayley, both twenty, were drowned when their rowboat capsized in a squall on Hamilton Bay. Taking crabs while swimming in the canal at Port Dalhousie, Ontario, Frank Scott, eighteen, of North Tonawanda, N.Y., was drowned. Exhausted from a long swim, Thomas Wolfe, nineteen, was drowned in Lake Ontario, off Hamilton. Believed to have tumbled from a barnyard fence, two-year-old Richard Paddock was found drowned in a water trough on his father's farm near Guelph, Ontario. With a self-inflicted knife wound in his neck, the body of Wilmer Wilson was found on his farm near Goderich, Ontario. He had recently taken on his head. Placing his revolver to his breast, Constable Joseph Jones, twenty-seven, of the Montreal police force, fatally shot himself. Domestic trouble was given as the cause. Mrs. Walter O'Connor, forty-four, was instantly killed when an automobile driven by R. J. Cochran of Montreal struck her as she was walking on a road near Ottawa. Sarah Cosgrave, fifty, died in a Pembroke hospital from injuries caused by an automobile turning turtle and pinning her down after a collision.

ELECTION INTEREST IN CANADA HIGH

Vote Means Much For the Future, Says Hon. Charles Dunning

Regina, July 12.—"Everywhere in Canada people are recognizing that the constitutional and economic future of the country must be settled, and it is a healthy sign that the public interest is so thoroughly aroused," declared Hon. Charles Dunning, former Minister of Railways, here to-day. "This country is one of the 'British Commonwealth of Nations' and is frequently used by the King," added Mr. Dunning. "Canada is and must be considered a self-governing nation in the fullest sense. Autocracy, such as that displayed by Mr. Meighen in having Parliament dissolved and the members sent home without giving the Governor-General an opportunity of assenting to many of the measures they had passed challenges at once the attention of the whole country and finally, comes the view strongly expressed that the unity of Canada and the freedom of its people are imperilled."

NO DICTATORSHIP
"We have to-day in Canada an illegally constituted Tory Government, in office not by the will of the people's representatives, but in direct opposition to the will of Parliament. The people of Canada must settle by their ballots and for all that we are a free people and that a Meighen dictatorship will not be tolerated in this country." Mr. Dunning arrived here Saturday night from Ottawa.

ITALIANS LOST MEN IN CLASH IN TRIPOLI

Rome, July 12.—Twenty-two soldiers, five civilians and one native were killed by Cyrenaican brigands in a surprise attack on a wagon train proceeding from Anzonia to Cyrene, the Colonial Office announced. Reinforcements, which arrived after the attack, dispersed the brigands and captured a number of chiefs.

Montreal Has New Weather Record

Montreal, July 12.—Almost an inch and a quarter of rain, a new high temperature for the year touching 83.2 degrees and a weather hovering around 100 all day gave Montreal on Saturday a tropical weather and a record that will stand for a long time in local weather annals.

A heavy thunderstorm during Saturday afternoon, accompanied by a miniature cloudburst, was the culmination of the wet and hot wave. Subways were flooded in the city, traffic blocked and firemen were on the run all over the city in response to alarms turned in when short circuits occurred in exposed wires. Montreal, in fact, had a three-day experience that was rare. The rain started at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. It was continuous until 5.15 Saturday morning. From that moment there were intermittent downpours until 5.30 Saturday afternoon. The total rainfall was 2.24 inches in that period, and it has contributed liberally to the 2.7 inches which is the average precipitation here in the month of July.

Empire Conference May be Postponed

London, July 12 (Canadian Press Cable).—The London Daily Express understands the Imperial Conference planned for the October is almost certain to be postponed indefinitely because of the unsettled political condition in Canada. The paper declares it is doubtful if Canada could at present send delegates to the conference who could speak with authority, but expresses the view that it is one party for the October with a large majority at the forthcoming general election, the Prime Minister chosen by the country would possibly be in a position to attend the conference for Canada.

U.S. DEBT PROTEST STAGED IN PARIS

12,000 in Parade; Many Crippled War Veterans Took Part; Protest in Nice

Paris, July 12.—War veterans, propelling themselves in invalid chairs, the blind with hands on the shoulders of their wives or children for guidance, others with the wounds of battle showing plainly, led a protest parade of 12,000 men here yesterday against the Washington debt settlement.

The procession moved up the Champs Elysees, around the Arc de Triomphe and down the Avenue d'Orleans. A wreath was deposited at the equestrian statue of George Washington, inscribed: "To Washington, with hope." There also was placed a stone plaque expressing the wish that the Franco-American debt settlement should be revised.

As soon as the backs of the veterans' officials were turned, a police officer in plain clothes took the plaque from under the wreath, put it under his coat and jumping into a waiting automobile, sped away, leaving only the wreath as a testament of the veterans' visit. OVER STATEMEN'S HEADS
The plaque was inscribed as follows: "Over the heads of diplomacy and far from political and financial combines, the war veterans of France appeal straight to the people of the United States. After the deceptions of peace, the proposed debt settlement would consecrate the ruin of France and the loss of its independence."

"America will understand the war veterans of France, who are honest, sincere and loyal, are asking in a friendly manner that the study of the question should be taken up once more."

The French Government had originally prohibited the parade. Thousands stood bareheaded along the line of march and the procession, moving at the rate of 200 a minute, took exactly an hour to pass the Washington statue, after which it disbanded.

SUNDAY EXPOSITION EVENTS OPPOSED

Philadelphia, July 12.—A nationwide endeavor to have the Methodists of the United States oppose the Sesqui-centennial Exposition here because its gates are open on Sundays was under way to-day. Headed by Bishop Joseph F. Berry, senior bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the plan calls for the sending of letters to 4,000 ministers of his denomination, signed by himself and seven other bishops, urging the clergymen to advise the members of their congregations never to go near the exposition as long as it remains open on Sundays.

Bishop Berry says he represents 50,000,000 Christians, "God-fearing people, who regard this inquiry as an insidious attack on the traditional American institution, the holy Sabbath."

TO NAME CANDIDATES

Moose Jaw, July 12.—The Liberals of the constituency of Moose Jaw will meet in convention Friday, July 23, to select a candidate to contest the seat in the forthcoming Federal general election. The Conservatives will hold a nomination convention July 22.

Chemainus

Special to The Times.
Chemainus, July 12.—Miss Nettie Robertson, a popular Chemainus girl who is to be married this month to James Cochran of Nanaimo, was given a miscellaneous shower by her friends in Nanaimo at the home of Mrs. A. Stewart. Those attending from Chemainus included Mrs. Robert Robertson, Miss Nettie Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cowans, Mr. and Mrs. J. MacKay, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson, Mr. Greenhorn, Miss R. McLaughlin, Miss D. Greenhorn and Miss Agnes Miller. Mr. and Mrs. Noel F. Lang, who have been holidaying in the Capital City returning home on Friday. The Rev. Father Murphy of Kuper Island Indian Industrial Schools is visiting in Victoria.

Mrs. Thomas McEwan and her little son who have been on an extended visit to Mrs. McEwan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Yearley, Vancouver, have returned home. Mrs. McEwan who had been ill for several months prior to her holiday is very much benefited by the change. Mr. and Mrs. Hallberg and family are on a vacation and are touring the Island.

Local ladies who were present at the annual garden party of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, L.O. P.E. held at Hatley Park were Mrs. James Cathcart, Mrs. Barbara McKinnon, Mrs. J. Taylor, Miss Doris Cathcart and Miss Kathleen Burns.

Mrs. Lawson and her daughter Miss Katharine Lawson have left for Ontario, owing to the illness of Mrs. Lawson's mother.

The Rev. Basil Spurling, and Master Frank Spurling have returned home after spending a week's holiday in Victoria and vicinity.

Washable kid gloves come in the new pastel shades, and shoes come in colored kid and buckskin as well as in linen.

Duncan

Duncan, July 12.—Pursuant to the decision arrived at, during the special meeting convened for the Board of Trade, to the effect that the divisional freight agent, Vancouver, be notified that the board objected to the new application of rates, made effective on goods coming into Duncan, and that failing its being rescinded, the matter would be placed before the Board of Railway Commissioners, a telegram has been received by S. R. Kirkham, president of the Duncan Board of Trade, from Mr. W. H. Gardiner of Victoria, assistant general freight superintendent for the West, as follows:

"Instructions were given through misunderstanding. Agent has been instructed to apply combination rates on everything from Eastern points. This should dispose of matters to your satisfaction." The Board of Trade are also dissatisfied with the new postal arrangements, which are to take effect on July 12. By this the post office service between Nanaimo and Wellington will be superseded by a baggage car service between Victoria and Nanaimo. Duncan post office will receive a closed mail from Victoria and will send a closed mail to Nanaimo by the 4.51 p.m. train and also by the 10 a.m. train. Duncan Board of Trade instructed a committee to investigate the matter and take the necessary steps to try and keep the present service.

DO THIS AFTER SEVERE ILLNESS

How to Speedily Gain Strength and Put on Needed Weight

Nothing like the wonderful vitalizing vitamins extracted from the livers of the common codfish to help convalescing people to quickly get strong and well—everybody knows that. So nowadays, medical men who keep up with the times are ordering a tablet containing the vitamins that give to frail folk vigor, strength and weight—a tablet that is known as McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablet—and it surely has proved a blessing to thousands of people who have been sapped of their natural strength after any severe illness.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good healthy solid flesh, and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on five pounds in thirty days. As a matter of fact, your druggist is authorized to return your money if you don't take on five pounds in thirty days.

Great for weak, skinny, backward, run-down children too, and gives them a hearty appetite. Be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Extract Tablet. The Vancouver Drug Company, McFarlane Drug Company, Owl Drug Company and druggists everywhere have a big demand for them and millions are sold monthly all over North and South America. They are sugar coated and as easy to take as candy. 50 Tablets (Adv.)

THE FALL FAIR

EVERY CITIZEN IN THIS COMMUNITY should get behind the officials of the British Columbia Agricultural Association and help them to realize their objective of a bigger and better show than ever this year. This is one of the most important occasions on which practically the whole of the south-eastern part of Vancouver Island has an opportunity to put its goods "in the window" and let people from far and near know what can be produced here.

It is not fair to leave all the work to the officials and then omit to go to the exhibition and see the results of their labors. Attendance is important apart from the encouragement which it gives the members of the Association. The visitor from the outside goes to the annual fair to get an idea of the enterprise of the community in which he may be thinking of residing or of putting money to work. If he sees a good attendance he at least recognizes a demonstration of local pride and in that way he is usually impressed. But if he notes a lack of interest he draws his own conclusions and probably goes elsewhere to live and drive in his stake.

There have been excellent fairs other years. Many of the exhibits have been of a high order. Yet there is still room for an improvement in the number of entries. This year should establish a new record. Victoria is obviously at the beginning of a real estate and industrial revival, and the Fall Fair should be made to play an important part in it. It will if there shall be a demonstration of local productive capacity such as the officials of the Association are expecting. Their objective is worth striving for and should be easily attained.

WILL IT BE MR. FORTIER?

IT IS REPORTED THAT MR. J. H. FORTIER, of Montreal, president of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, is to be a member of Mr. Meighen's Cabinet. That appointment would be appropriate enough in all the circumstances. At the recent annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers Association Mr. Fortier delivered an address which ought to qualify him for a high place in any Conservative Ministry. Our readers no doubt will recall its general terms. It was a plaintive echo of the campaign utterances of Mr. Meighen and his cohorts in the election last year, a demand for a high tariff wall to save the country from ruin, to "bring the boys back," and so on.

Mr. Fortier was reminded from many quarters that his facts were wrong and his conclusions fantastic, and that they were in conflict with the news published in the Canadian press of both parties, particularly in the pages of those zealous advocates of protection, The Montreal Gazette and The Montreal Star. If he shall become a Minister in the Meighen Cabinet he will have to sing that song in a minor key. Instead of "adequate protection" he will have to talk about a "stable tariff" and "stable business conditions."

There is one extensive part of Canada where the significance of Mr. Fortier's appointment would not be overlooked; and that is the prairie region, whose members are likely to hold the balance of power in the next House.

MORE CAUTION NEEDED

ONCE AGAIN THE FOREST FIRE hazard is serious. The scorching days of last week have turned all vegetation into tinder that would blaze up from the tiniest spark. Forestry officials ask the general public to be scrupulously cautious both in and anywhere near the timbered areas. Many of the fires already reported to the Department this year have borne unmistakable evidence of having been started by carelessness. It should be possible to reduce this danger. It takes only a few minutes to put a camp fire out and a minute or two more to make quite sure that not a single smouldering ember has been left to the mercy of any breeze that may blow. Smokers in automobiles should see that lighted tobacco is not thrown by the wayside if there is the slightest chance of sparks being carried to adjacent timber or underbrush. If these important preventive measures are observed all over the Province the loss to the people and the provincial exchequer during the rest of the hazardous season will be kept down very considerably.

A POINTED STATEMENT

SEVERAL POLITICAL COMMENTATORS of the Conservative school in this country have been telling us that Mr. Lloyd George is now definitely a "has been" with no possible chance of ever again coming into his own. It may take him some time. It is not a simple job for a one-time Prime Minister such as he was to come back and lead a party to victory at the polls. But those who imagine that the man who really got things done during the darkest days of the war, the man who still means something to many millions of people in Great Britain, is dead and done for politically may have to change their opinions before very long.

This observation, which Mr. Lloyd George made at a recent public gathering of Liberals, is typical of the anti-Conservative vote which was rolled up at the election which gave Mr. Baldwin a House majority of 223 means anything at all. On that occasion the Conservative vote—out of a total ballot of 80.6 of the entire electorate, the largest for many a year, and at that on the "red" issue—was 8,547,081 as against Liberal and Labor combined of 9,171,471, a Liberal-Labor plurality of no less than 624,390. Labor for the moment overshadows Liberalism in point of parliamentary strength. But its internal strife is now, no secret and the day will come when Liberalism will win back many who are not as comfortable as they would like to be in a political sense.

There are twelve people who cannot work with me, but there are 3,000,000 Liberals who can. I am going on with as many of them as I can get to work with. I don't seek leadership, but I do want service.

Mr. Lloyd George puts the number of Liberals who can work with him at a very low figure if the anti-Conservative vote which was rolled up at the election which gave Mr. Baldwin a House majority of 223 means anything at all. On that occasion the Conservative vote—out of a total ballot of 80.6 of the entire electorate, the largest for many a year, and at that on the "red" issue—was 8,547,081 as against Liberal and Labor combined of 9,171,471, a Liberal-Labor plurality of no less than 624,390. ## OUR FISHERIES

IN THE YEAR 1906 THE TOTAL VALUE of the fisheries of Canada amounted to $20,279,485. In 1925 the total value of the fisheries of British Columbia alone ran up to $22,414,618, and the nation's production stood at $47,926,802. This shows an increase in the last twenty years of more than $20,000,000 and the record now credits this Province with not far short of half of the entire value.

The figures just issued by the Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa show that the total production for the whole of the Dominion in 1925 exceeded that of the previous year by $3,392,567, and included in this gain is an increase by British Columbia of no less than $1,157,051, with $1,436,436 in the case of Nova Scotia, which Province comes next to our own, with totals for 1924 and 1925 of $8,777,251 and $10,213,687 respectively. New Brunswick's comparative totals for 1924 and 1925 are $5,383,809 and $4,798,589, or a decrease of $585,220.

The value of the fishery production in British Columbia indicates how necessary it is that the equipment essential to the industry be available as cheaply as possible. It is too important a factor in the trade and commerce of this Province to be jeopardized by the imposition of more tariff restrictions.

THE INEVITABLE SEQUEL

CHICAGO'S MOST NOTORIOUS GUNMAN, one Martin Durkin, on Saturday was sentenced to imprisonment for thirty-five years for the murder of a Federal officer who was about to arrest him. Although Durkin is only twenty-four years old the handle of his gun has numerous notches to indicate his progress along the murder route. He is a typical human tiger of the Chicago jungle, and the fact that he has escaped the noose or the chair so long is an insult to justice. It is not surprising that the escape of Durkin from the executioner was celebrated this morning by three killings in Cicero, a suburb of Chicago, and there will be more of them. As far as law and order are concerned Chicago, the second city on this continent in population, is in a condition not far from anarchy. Scores of desperadoes, many of whom have actually been sentenced to be executed, are walking the streets, and before long they will be joined by Durkin, whose end will come at the hands of another gunman, not from any agency of any outraged justice.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

ESTIMATES OF EDUCATION
From The Trail Bulletin
Those who oppose a free school system are mighty narrow in their estimation of education. They look upon education as being only a selfish affair, that is, the duty only of the parent to educate his child and not at all the duty of the state. But the right way is for the state to do it regardless of what kind of daddies the children have, or whether they have any daddies at all. Don't sentence the child to illiteracy because he had a sorry daddy; the child can't help what kind of a daddy he has.
It is the exceptional community which has not a church capacity for in excess of its church attendance, and a school capacity tragically far below the school attendance.
Still, despite the multiplicity of laws it doesn't require a bit more effort to be a decent citizen.

GOLD AND LEAD

From The Chicago Tribune
The Russian chervonetz, the new gold unit of currency, is holding its own: the soviet finance ministry announces with a certain exultation. Mr. Bronsky, a member of the finance ministry, tells how the remarkable result has been achieved. Three important officials of his department were stood up against a wall and executed. A hundred dealers in foreign exchange have been locked up. The lesson has not been lost upon other dealers. The chervonetz is at par.
We commend this method of establishing values to dealers in stocks and grain. If Mr. Livermore happens to be long on wheat he will come out nicely, regardless of the law of supply and demand, if he has a few of the bears hanged and imprisoned the rest of them.
Back of the chervonetz is a reserve of gold—and lead.

A THOUGHT

For no man ever yet hated his own flesh; but nourisheth and cherisheth it.—Eph. v. 29.
Selfishness is that detestable vice which no one will forgive in others, and no one is without it himself.—Henry Ward Beecher.

'UNCLE SAM'

The national nickname of the United States has been accounted for in many ways, always starting from the initials "U.S." These initials were painted on all stores of the government, and it so happened that the individual who first happened upon the idea of seeing that this was done, was known among his friends as Uncle Sam. There was a general impression that the initials which he placed upon government property were his own, indicating that they had passed through his hands, and articles marked "U.S." were known as "Uncle Sam's property."

Canadian Questions and Answers

SIR GEORGE SIMPSON

Q. Who was Sir George Simpson?
A. Sir George Simpson was one of the earlier Governors of the Hudson's Bay Company, after whom the Simpson Pass was named, and which was discovered in 1841 on his overland trip around the world. His initials and date are cut on a tree near the Pass. Sir George Simpson was one of the most famous heads of the Hudson's Bay Company who left his impress on the whole western country.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY IN CANADA

Q. What is the extent of wireless telegraphy in Canada?
A. Canada has wireless stations from the Gulf of St. Lawrence to the head of Lake Superior. Federal chain of wireless stations to Arctic Circle. Locations at Fort Smith, Resolution, Simpson, Norman and McPherson on the Mackenzie and at Yukon, December 5, 1924. World's farthest North wireless station being erected on Ellesmere Island in Arctic Circle.

CONVENTION ENDED BY NATIVE SONS

Vancouver, July 12.—Intensive business for the past few days, sessions of the fifth annual convention of the Native Sons of Canada in the Hotel Vancouver Saturday.

The delegates were to have attended a baseball game between Toronto and the Vancouver All Stars, but owing to pressure of the business session the game had to be abandoned, and the afternoon was devoted to an extra meeting, which was closed to the press. The principal items of the programme were numerous, important changes in the constitution.

Following the conclusion of the sessions the majority of the delegates soon left the city, homeward bound.

LIST OF BRANCHES

The work of the organization has developed markedly during the year, and the following lodges are now established: Victoria, Vancouver, Courtenay, Vancouver Heights, Mount Pleasant, B.C., North

During the voyage, he said, both he and Evans had told the passengers the story of their race. From the time their aircraft crashed at Chertsey, the pilot was arrested in Cologne, and his machine confiscated, and the subsequent hiring of a plane from Luft Hansa, a commercial flying company, until they had crossed the Pacific, these men traced their adventurous history.

STORY OF TRIP

The world has watched these two travelers and they told the Empress passengers of their route and some of their experiences during the voyage. It was at 12:30 a.m., Eastern Standard time that Wells and Evans left New York, made all haste for the dock and embarked for Chertsey, France. From there the two travelers went on to Paris, from Paris they sped to Berlin, flying over the old battlefields of Flanders and into what was only a few years ago, a forbidden land. Germany welcomed them and from Berlin they raced for Königsberg. They crossed the Russian border and entered Moscow. Across the endless miles of the Siberian steppes, on a fast train, the travelers went on to Omsk, made Chita and then Harbin. It was a nightmare of hurry, sleeplessness, chafed food, newly-made communications, frenzied telegraphing and worries.

HEADING SOUTH

From Harbin they headed south and reached Antung. In the meanwhile they changed trains at Mukden, and eventually reached Fushun, and there, almost for the first time realized that they were passing through a different civilization. All the way across Russia they had seen a change, but it was so gradual as to be scarcely noticeable. When they had time to cast their eyes around them, having embarked at Fushun aboard a fast packet—Wells and Evans—they were able to make a contrast of the people and places they saw at those through which they had been passing only a few hours before. It took them a day racing across Japan, from Shimonoseki to Yokohama. All the way monsoons were decorated with flowers and the Japanese gave them a warm welcome.

It was during this railroad trip that photographers and newspaper reporters charged the train and broke in upon the weary travelers. Their night was one endless series of interviews and a few hours' snatched sleep.

TAKE NO CHANCES

Japanese aviators were somewhat perturbed at the refusal of the two world racers to fly by night from Shimonoseki. Wells and Evans, both of whom were loath to risk their chances of breaking the world's record for circumnavigating the globe by a night flight under hazardous circumstances, had consequently refused the kind offers of the Japanese aviators to carry them over this lap of the world. Their journey was murky, with a chance of a heavy blow.

Meanwhile, by communication, Capt. A. V. R. Lovegrove, skipper of the Empress of Asia, and the Canadian authorities at Yokohama, the travelers had secured the promise of the ship's commander to hold his vessel at the arrival of their train. It was known that this would occasion

READY TO LEAVE

Evans and Wells left the Empress liner almost as soon as the quarantine doctor went aboard. In the pilot launch the two men, surrounded by cameramen, moved slowly away from the side of the liner while the passengers lined the decks and watched with eager eyes for the coming of the long-expected seaplane. Hubbard, however, did not appear.

Momentarily the tension became more acute. Wells and Evans grew somewhat excited. There was talk of rushing them to Victoria where they might buy, beg or borrow Norman Yagrow's "Tortoise," fast hydroplane which he had been using in that craft. All eyes watched the eastern horizon, under the glaring sun. It was a newspaperman who first saw the seaplane swooping towards them and he shouted to the launch in his excitement: "Here comes Eddie."

QUICK DEPARTURE

There was no further delay. Hubbard touched the water at 5:45 a.m. The launch immediately went about, side. Wells and Evans climbed into the pits. Cameras clicked and whirled and the decks of the Empress were packed with her passengers and crew. Suddenly there was a sharp report of the exhaust, the rapid firing of the engine and the plane started in a wide circle of its own whirling across her bows, rising and heading into the East. The siren shrieked its salute. Passengers cheered. Men in pyjamas, strolled from their state-rooms to watch the departing travelers and until the sound of the engine was no more, they gazed after the disappearing plane, which was a reality in the imagination of Jules Verne. Shortly afterwards the Empress

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Daily Times, July 12, 1901

A large demand for floor space for the annual exhibition of the B.C. Agricultural and Mining Association was reported yesterday by Secretary of the Committee Bogs.

Announcement was made to-day of the entry of Martin Griffin, of Toronto, into the law firm of Tupper & Peters.

Reports of a miners' strike in the Rossland area reached here to-day. Nearly a thousand men are affected. The striking C.P.R. workers also have not yet reached an agreement.

Evans and Wells will fly both day and night to attempt to reach New York by 12:30 Wednesday morning. They have less than 48 hours to accomplish a transatlantic passage. If they succeed in keeping to their schedule they will have made the trip in 28 days. But even if they fail in this effort they will unquestionably break the world's record unless a serious accident occurs. Both men are anxious to rush the last few hours of their journey through as quickly as possible.

NIGHT FLIGHTS HAZARDOUS

Wells admitted the hazards of night flying to-day. He had denied, the kind offer of the Japanese to carry him, by night from Shimonoseki to Yokohama. After the long race, wind and the chance was too great. Besides, here the speed was essential, while in Japan it did count for so much. They were entering upon their sprint, and Wells said, both he and Evans had told the passengers the story of their race. From the time their aircraft crashed at Chertsey, the pilot was arrested in Cologne, and his machine confiscated, and the subsequent hiring of a plane from Luft Hansa, a commercial flying company, until they had crossed the Pacific, these men traced their adventurous history.

WEIGHT IN DUDS

Thirty ounces is the average weight of a girl's clothes to-day—that is, just the clothes she wears at one fling. That's on the continent. New York modistes boast that they have cut it down to sixteen ounces. The girls of old Queen Bee's time thought nothing of forty or fifty pounds of glad rags to careen about on their frail girlish shoulders—and Queen Bee herself—had 5,000 of such outfits!

DEFENCE OF CITY IS SUCCESSFUL

Annual "Attack" on Esquimalt Defences Proves Un-availing

Victoria's defence by the 55th and 56th Coast Batteries was successful against numerous craft, which attempted to enter Esquimalt Harbor and occupy land in that vicinity on Saturday night. At Black Rock and Belmont batteries were stationed and efficient spotting and gunnery brought about the downfall of the invaders.

The occasion was the annual "sham" siege battle held every year at the conclusion of the two weeks' training camp of the 55th and 56th Batteries.

Under a clear starlit sky, and the water quietly lapping the shores, the gunners awaited the "attack" of the boats which had departed from Esquimalt harbor earlier in the evening to carry out their instructions. Constant vigilance was kept by the searchlight operators, who had the seeing "eyes" of their instruments sweeping the whole of the harbor entrance.

Meanwhile, through the still quietness of the night the "enemy" craft were stealing up the shore, the batteries, manoeuvring with great skill to attempt the run under the guns. But their strategy was of no avail. They were discovered by the prying light shafts, and immediately the gunlayers jumped into action. Efficient training showed itself and the batteries blazed forth on the opposing boats with deadly aim.

Manoeuvre where they would the attacking forces were dogged by the persistent searchlights, discovered and shot down by the shore batteries. Shortly after midnight the battle was announced as concluded. The shore gunners had proved the worth of their training and had saved the city from the "enemy" attack.

NEW BRANCH FOR FALL EXHIBITION

B.C. Manufacturing Exhibits Will be Displayed in Home Products Building

Formerly utilized as the Home Products Building, the first building on the left, past the entrance of the exhibition grounds at the Willows will be known as the British Columbia Manufacturing Building at the Fall exhibition this year. The exhibition will take place at the Willows from August 15 to 21 inclusive, and will be one of the biggest and best yet in the history of the British Columbia Agricultural Association.

All space in the new building has already been spoken for, and exhibits from a large number of British Columbia's large firms will be seen. A list of the firms who will have displays in the building has been announced by W. H. Mearns, secretary of the B.C. Agricultural Association, as follows: Sidney Rubber Roofing Company, Remmie & Taylor, Postoffice, Bannock, Paint Company, David Spencer Limited, Victoria Hardware Floor Company, B.C. Electric, Blinded Returned Soldiers of British Columbia (Vancouver), Kelly Douglas Company, Ormond's Limited, Mackay & Gillespie, Shelly's Four X, Williams & Hart, Red Cross Workshop, Albion Stove Works, Kingham Fuel Company, McMartin's, Blue Ribbon Tea, Burns Company, Blue Ribbon Tea, Jeanne Bros., Thrift Chemical Works (Vancouver), and Jameson's Coffee Store.

Other reorganization of the fair grounds has been undertaken. The main building, in which a great lack of accommodation for horticultural and agricultural exhibits has been noticeable in the past, has undergone a thorough remodelling, and will be much more spacious this year.

One of the features of livestock exhibitions will be the cattle show. Entries from five Canadian provinces and a like number of states on the American side have been received for this branch of the fair, and the prize winners will be of an excellent standard. Following are provinces and states from which entries have been received: British Columbia, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Washington, California, Oregon, Idaho and Utah. There is also a large entry list for the horse show.

Horse races will also be a feature. Seven races daily will be held, and will no doubt prove a great attraction. There will be the usual skidway and row of attractions which travel with the fairs.

Dogs will have a prominent place amongst the exhibits. On Friday and Saturday in the Horse Show Building the best canines in the city and outside towns will be bunched. Whippet racing will be conducted on the track in front of the grandstand every evening before dusk.

Undoubtedly the automobile dealers of the city will again put forth their greatest efforts to make the automobile show a great success. In past years this has proved one of the major attractions of the fair, and it is understood that an even better display will be given this year.

A number of outlying districts will have exhibits in the main building. This building in the centre will be entirely devoted to horticultural and trade exhibits, while floral place near the walls. A large display of butter, enhanced by unique carvings, will be a great attraction of this branch.

Goats, sheep and poultry exhibits have already drawn a large entry list and splendid displays are assured.

An added feature, announced by Mr. Mearns, is a performance by the city fire department of fire extinguishing. A specially constructed frame building will be burned on three nights during the exhibition with the rescue of a man introduced for realism.

Offers Will Be Received

By the undersigned for the purchase of building on the north side of Cloverdale Avenue, near of V. & B. Ry. track, building and all rubbish to be removed. CORPORATION OF THE DISTRICT OF SAANICH.

Royal Oak, B.C., Phone 2217.

PREMIER'S NEPHEW FOLLOWS UNCLE IN POLITICAL CAREER

Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Youth, Nominated as Candidate in Ontario

Two Olivers, British Columbia's rugged Premier and his nephew, a young man of twenty-one, are in Canadian politics now.

Farquhar R. Oliver, of Ceylon, Ont., has just been nominated as a United Farmer candidate for the Ontario Legislature in South Grey constituency. He is a son of the Premier's brother and a favorite with the British Columbia Liberal leader.

Like his distinguished uncle, Farquhar Oliver started life as a farm lad. But in spite of his youth he is already becoming known as the boy wonder of Canadian politics.

AIDED MISS McPHAIL

His own candidature is a natural development from his other recent political activities, for in the last Dominion election he was the lieutenant of Miss Agnes McPhail, lady member of the House of Commons, and will be again this year. Farquhar Oliver is a discovery of Miss McPhail's.

The young farm lad and Canada's only lady member of Parliament have been near neighbors in Arden Township, Grey County, for years. Two years ago Miss McPhail discovered in him potential political capacity. She got him interested in the Farm Youth movement, and a year ago he was in the arena in the debates which were conducted under its auspices. So when the election fight was on Miss McPhail asked him if he would help her, and he consented, acting as her trusty squire throughout.

WORKED IN DAYTIME

He would work all day in the fields at his accustomed task. Then in the evenings he would not only drive her to her meetings in his light-colored car, but he would also be present at her South Grey constituency, but speak on her behalf as well. At first he had a certain amount of diffidence, but he gradually developed an assured platform manner and was soon discussing like an old-timer the political issues of the day.

"P. R. Oliver will go far," Miss McPhail prophesied at the time. And now he has been unanimously given the provincial nomination, and will fight the next Ontario election in the progressive, later years, a very good chance of election in a constituency where Miss McPhail stands so strong.

STUDY ECONOMICS

Young Oliver has apparently never shown any particular genius for date in school, he got his education, but that was all. He has been, until he became interested in politics, just a normal farm youth of his age, except that he was interested in reading. Since Miss McPhail's interest in him began he has been developing himself intensively to the study of economics and political questions.

OBITUARY

Funeral service was held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at the Thompson Funeral Home, 1825 Quadra Street, for the late Victor Arthur Dawson, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dawson, 669 Pine Street, who passed away at the Royal Jubilee Hospital on Wednesday morning. Rev. W. M. Scott conducted the service, during which a solo was sung by Mrs. S. J. Morton. "There's a Friend for Little Children." There were many friends present and a profusion of beautiful floral designs covered the casket. Four of the Western United Church Sunday school boys acted as pallbearers. Robert Wensley, Lawrence Ward, Glyn Jones and William Lewis. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, proceeding to St. Paul's Garrison Church, Esquimalt, where the service will be conducted by Rev. P. C. Chapman, after which the remains will be laid to rest in the Naval Cemetery.

The remains of the late Ernest Hodge, who passed away on Wednesday morning at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, are resting at the Thompson Funeral Home, from where the funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, proceeding to St. Paul's Garrison Church, Esquimalt, where the service will be conducted by Rev. P. C. Chapman, after which the remains will be laid to rest in the Naval Cemetery.

The funeral of Baby Sybil Millson McLeod, five-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McLeod, of Tod Inlet, took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Many relatives and friends attended the service, and the casket was covered with many beautiful floral tributes. Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick officiated. Mr. McLeod and G. Vardley acted as pallbearers, the body being laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Cool on Coast Says Spokane Man

With the assertion that Victorians do not know what weather is like, Fred Brooks, former resident of that city, arrived here in his motor car yesterday. He looked at the thermometer here and declared that he almost felt chilly.

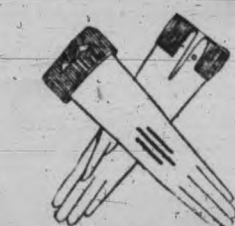

"It was 108 as we motored through Wenatchee Valley on Saturday on our way to the Coast from Spokane," Mr. Brooks said. "Brooks, who is one of the officers of Marshall Wells, Spokane, is here for half a week looking up old members of the 1st Battery, C.F.A., who trained in Kingston, Ont., and were together in France. Among the members of the old battery who are meeting with Mr. Brooks here are Major George G. Atkinson, now chief geographer of British Columbia, and J. Edward Lane, member of the Water Board for British Columbia. Mr. Brooks' mother from Kingston is with him and they are staying with old friends, Mr. and Mrs. David Milne, of 214 Vancouver Street.

YVONNE GIVES A SHOPPING LESSON

Dearest Cousin:
Your adorable letter bubbling with enthusiasm over your new camellias pleased me immensely, but I shall consider myself a successful buyer only if you entrust me with more commissions.

This week I have again been conducting a shopping tour, but not for myself. Cousin Yvonne, who has been living in Budapest since her marriage, has been in Paris, and I have helped her select some very lovely attire.

She is most distinguished in appearance, not beautiful, but always interesting. How particular she is about what she buys! She watches every detail like a hawk. She has no interest in prevailing modes, only in those that suit her particular style.

I am sending you photographs of two of her purchases that I liked extremely. The cape ensemble is of brown kasha trimmed with narrow leather bands, subtly cut and fitted about the waist and neckline. The collar is of natural linen and the large plaid tie in shades of red and brown.

There's a very distinct air about the silk frock in shades of tan and brown. There's a very distinct air about the silk frock in shades of tan and brown, with embroidery in gold and yellow, with brown buttons. A wide scarf of tan lined with cream wraps closely about the throat and hangs down in a long loop in the back. The girdles in the skirt and the circular portions of the sleeve are also of the light crepe.

Both these outfits carry a certain military suggestion, and accentuate something that is very dominant and powerful about Yvonne. They look as if they were as much a part of her as her eyes and her hair. That is what I call good dressing.

We selected three hats for her, which she had cut and shaped, and fitted until every line and angle was perfect. Two were felt, with rather wide brims and very much rounded crowns.

By the way, all the felt hats seem to be running to crown these days. Her third purchase was extremely chic—a black satin turban folded in small folds and trimmed with marvelous cut crystal pins.

As for myself, I have nothing new but an inexpensive little frock of white voile with hand-hemstitching and inserts of blue and white plaid voile—for I am going to have a blue hat-trimmed with corded ribbon.

Probably clothes will interest me more now, as life is picking up since I have had an indication that Jimmy's interest in me has not entirely been diverted by that insipid looking blonde draped in the shawl he bought for me—I hope she loses it.

On arriving home last evening after a ride in the Bois with Cousin Yvonne, my maid said the gentleman with the nice voice had called me twice on the telephone, and later in the afternoon I received a note saying he wished to see me just once more, then he would not bother me any more, if I desired it. Naturally, since Jacques is in England, and there is no prospect of his immediate return, I am more eager than ever to see Jimmy. So I wrote to him, concealing my delight beneath most casual phrases, asking him to call to-morrow.

With what delight do I look forward to seeing him! What can he possibly have to say? I have treated him shamefully, but I shall try to make him forget it. I shall tell you everything in my next letter.

Devotedly,
Germaine.

TREAT COLDS SERIOUSLY

By DR. HUGH S. CUMMING

Because it occurs so frequently the disagreeable condition known as the common cold is usually lightly regarded. But the malady causes suffering, inconvenience, economic loss and is often the forerunner of more serious affections. It should be regarded as a serious disease.

Colds have a definite economic impact. In one division of a large life insurance company in New York there were 2,834 colds among 6,700 workers during a year. The average time lost by those having colds was 2.3 days.

Recent studies among school children disclosed that common colds are responsible for approximately one-fourth of all absences. As the school system must be maintained even when many children are absent the economic factor is readily discernible.

It also was found that the children in open window school rooms, while often pale and undernourished, were almost free from colds.

The exact cause of the common cold has not been definitely determined. Probably a number of factors are concerned. However, for practical purposes it may be considered that the causative agent of most colds is conveyed from person to person through direct or indirect contact.

NO IMMUNITY.
The common cold, technically known as "coryza," also has the undeniable distinction of conferring little or no permanent immunity or resistance to the disease after an attack.

Fatigue, loss of sleep, insufficient food, or too much food, and work in stuffy or overheated rooms are conditions upon which colds may be engendered more readily than when the individual is in robust health.

persist more than two years without somewhat resembling the white clover, and confused by some with it, is Alsike or Swedish clover, the subject of the accompanying sketch.

Most clovers are perennials but do not last many years without reseeding. Those which are annuals have a tendency to become weeds. Most or all of the species are dependent on insects for the fertilization, and are not successfully introduced into some countries unless accompanied by bees.

Clover-Blossoms

MEADOW BLOSSOMS FROM THE OLD WORLD

By ARTHUR N. PACK

Though there are four-leaved clovers, the common shaded three-part leaf is the one we oftenest see. Clover is so common that it is difficult to think of it as a foreigner, yet with one possible exception all the species common in America are introduced from the old world, from southern Europe, Greece, Egypt or Syria.

More than a dozen of the 300 species known have been introduced into North America, and most of these are well established.

The common red clover is a valuable forage crop, and is also extremely beneficial as a cover crop. That is, one to be plowed under in a green state. Its fertilizing value is due largely to its ability to fix the nitrogen of the air by means of its roots.

Crimson or scarlet clover is also especially valuable in this respect. Sown in midsummer, it commonly opens its showy blossoms in the following Spring. From its great beauty it deserves more attention as an ornamental plant.

Our common white clover, now widely grown and thoroughly naturalized is thought by some students to be a native of North America. It is a favorite for lawns, but does not

Richard Dix Comes To Capitol This Week In Stirring Paramount Film

Lots of Action in "Say It Again," in Which the Cry for Realism Made Warm Time for Both Stars and Extras.

Some time ago, thirty-four bruised and battered men dragged themselves from the Paramount Long Island studio after two weeks of the hardest work as motion picture extras they ever put in. These were the patriotic citizenry's leaders, whose business it was to oust a usurper from the throne of Spezia in Richard Dix's Paramount picture, "Say It Again," which plays at the Capitol all this week.

Dix was the usurper and "Gunboat" Smith, a prize-fighter with whom Dix has sparred regularly for the last three years, his side-kick. Numbered among the battered were a dozen other fighters and wrestlers. The rest of the outfit were equally as tough.

The rehearsal and filming of the fight sequences, under Director Gregory La Cava, required two weeks of intensive battling.

First the mob chased Dix and "Gunboat" down the Spontonian streets. Dix and "Gunboat" fought as they retreated to the castle. From the vantage point of the top wall, Dix and "Gunboat" knocked their pursuers back to the street as fast as they climbed within striking distance. Finally on the other side, Dix and "Gunboat" got the mob as the mob swarmed down on them.

But that wasn't all. Inside the wall, there were marble benches, a small lake and a series of steps. Virtually everybody in the cast took turns getting knocked over benches, into the lake or down the steps.

In addition to these tumbles, the pugilists, in the heat of the excitement, frequently forgot to "pull their punches," so that many a make-believe "sock" went home in earnest for an honest-to-goodness wallop.

Dix forgot himself once, and hauled off with a slug that sent Harry Cording head over heels into the lake. The result was, Dix broke a knuckle on his right hand and Cording nursed a sore chin for several days.

The studio doctor and nurse were in constant attendance, patching more than a hundred minor injuries.

TEX HOWARD'S BAND AT CAPITOL AGAIN

Tex Howard and his band of musicians will play a return engagement at the Capitol Theatre beginning Monday of this week. Since their last visit here, they have played an extended engagement at the Strand Theatre in Vancouver, and by the reports have become quite popular in that city. The organization has been considerably strengthened since their last visit here, and the programme to be presented by them during this engagement have been carefully thought out to please all tastes by the programme which they will present during this coming week.

Special scenic and lighting effects have been arranged and the novelty numbers have been carefully thought out. The programme is as follows: Open Novelty, "Prisoner's Song," Fox Trot, "Dinah," "Sunshine of Your Smile," Band and Vocal, "Just a Cottage," "Small By a Waterfall," Novelty, "In My Gondola."

Exact Replica of San Quentin Jail in Playhouse Film

Also Many Scenes of Scenic Splendor in "Sweet Daddies"

Eating broiled lobster while listening to the spirited strains of a jazz band may not be associated with jail life, but that is shown to the exact replica in "Sweet Daddies," the new C. Levee picture for First National which is the feature attraction at the Playhouse all this week.

The jail is not really a jail, however. It is a cabaret, one of the oddest ever seen.

Levee erected an exact replica of the double tiered cells of San Quentin Prison, below which was built a dance floor. He called this exotic place "The Jail Cafe." The diners and dancers were locked in cells and were watched by men dressed in prison garb. The orchestra also wore the striped suits of the convict.

When dancing started, the jailer opened the cells and the merry-makers poured forth on the dance floor.

Human Willingness To Take a Chance Is Told by Picture

In "The Wheel," the first Victor Schertzinger production made for William Fox from the John Golden stage play, which opens at the Columbia Theatre to-day, the lure of gambling is shown in all its brighter as well as its darker sides. If one can see this picture stay away from the risks of the gambling table, that person is too deep-dyed a gambler to pay heed to any advice.

Heading an all-star cast in "The Wheel" are Claire Adams and Harrison Ford, while in their support are Marjorie Livingston, Mabel Hamilton, Clara Horton, David Terrance, George Harris and Julia Gordon.

Authors Discuss Convention to be Held on Mainland

Fascination of Gambling Demonstrated by Columbia Story

The Victoria and Islands Branch Canadian Authors' Association, held the July meeting at Spoon Bay, the Uplands, on Saturday afternoon. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. St. Clair Livingstone Dodd, resident correspondent in Russia for The New York Tribune, and author of "Under Three Flags," and Miss Ernestine Fraser of Vancouver.

A letter was read from Miss M. Eugenie Perry giving an account of the convention of the Canadian Women's Press Club which she attended last month in Toronto. Mr. Donald Fraser read Mrs. Blanche E. Holt Murison's poem on Col. George H. Ham which had been sent to the secretary by Col. Ham's daughter.

After tea, the members were taken by Mr. C. C. Pemberton to visit an Indian trench used in ancient warfare among the tribes and then on through Uplands to visit some curious oak trees which had greatly interested Marjorie Pickthall, the founder of the local branch of the Canadian Authors' Association. Mr. Donald Fraser read from "The Wood-carver's Wife and Other Poems," "The Tree," by Marjorie Pickthall, also some most interesting selections from Capt. Walbridge's book on the origin of place names in B.C., particularly in the district surrounding Cadboro Bay and D. W. Higgins' story "The Mystery Spring." Mr. Pemberton was thanked for the delightful programme

Great Human Appeal In "Turn to Right" On Bill at Coliseum

Greatest Stage Comedy Since "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch"

Not since "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" has there been a comedy which has gone so straight to the heart as "Turn to the Right." It is a wonderful story, told in a prologue and three acts. There's an old lady, who sheds sweetness everywhere, and whose beautiful nature causes a pair of hardened crooks to finally "Turn to the Right."

But it is a comedy, albeit with an appeal, and this show, which has been witnessed by thousands, draws constant laughter, whilst at times it holds the audience with its heart appeal. There is strong character work for the actors, and the show fast snaps with action.

A feature of the work of Mr. Ed. Redmond's Company at the Coliseum has always been the variety of the bills provided.

Here is a delightful story of great human appeal, fresh with the country air, and with a lively story which carries the audience along through all the gamut of the emotions.

SUICIDE ON PRAIRIES

Swift Current, Sask., July 12.—Provincial police to-day reported the suicide of John M. Haw on his farm near Batterum. Haw shot himself in the head with a rifle, walked sixty yards to a barn, talked and remained conscious almost until his death an hour later.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL MEETING WEDNESDAY

Will Debate Plans to Hold First Festival Here

What is regarded as an important meeting, from the fact that it relates to the formation and initial stages of Victoria's first musical festival, is that of Wednesday evening of this week at 8.15 o'clock at 509 Campbell building. This meeting is to be a public one, and it is requested that anyone having such an event at heart will make an effort to be present. The provisional committee will make its report, and appointment of officers will be made and other essential matters appertaining to the welfare of the movement will be discussed. The request is made that any citizen unable to be present and is interested in the coming festival will kindly send in any timely suggestion to provisional secretary, George J. Dyke, 16 Boyd Apartments, when the same will be brought before the meeting for consideration. This being the city's first musical festival it is desirable that as many attend as possible on this evening.

"The Volga Boatman" Now At Dominion Described As Greatest Picture Filmed

Wonderful Story Adapted by Lenore J. Coffee From Bercovici's Famous Novel Comes to Victoria for One Week

No, it is not an advertising agent, but Cecil B. DeMille himself who comes forward with the unqualified statement that, in his opinion, "The Volga Boatman," his latest independent screen production, is the greatest picture he has ever filmed. "I know such a statement sounds like a billboard," says the producer of "The Ten Commandments," "Manslaughter," "The Road to Yesterday," "Why Change Your Wife?" and other successes. But inasmuch as I have only made this very broad statement once before in my career of fifty pictures, perhaps the underline will be accepted.

WHY HE MAKES PREDICTION

"My enthusiasm for 'The Volga Boatman' is rooted about several pertinent points. First, here we have an opportunity for all the gorgeous drama which made the success of such French revolution stories as 'Saramouche' and 'Tale of Two Cities,' brought down to modern times and immediately within the understanding and sympathy of the hundreds of millions who have seen in their own time the cataclysmic tragedy of Russia.

GORGEOUS CHANCE FOR ROMANCE

"Second, what a gorgeous chance for romance, a Volga Boatman, a human mule, thrown together with a princess of the blood when servant became master and master servant! And all of this great romance, played out in modern clothes against the red background of a modern social overthrow. Think back over the great romances of the French revolution, how all of them have been successful in stories and on the stage, and then consider the possibilities inherent in a modern French revolution.

Third, I covet this opportunity because as yet it has been comparatively neglected in literature and art.

STIRRING FOLK SONG

"Fourth, not since 'Swanee River' has there been such a distinctively national, stirring folk song as the Volga Boat Song. Its rhythm supplied the excuse for this photodrama and its use during the playing of the picture will carry with it a tremendous parallel emotional force. As I've said, I've only used the term 'my greatest' once before and that for 'The Ten Commandments.' I expect much from 'The Volga Boatman.'

"The Volga Boatman," which is shown at the Dominion Theatre this week, was adapted by Lenore J. Coffee from Bercovici's novel. Featured are William Boyd, Elinor Fair, Victor Varconi, Kosloff, Julia Faye and Robert Edson.

Gone! The Old Fashioned Girl!

New York, July 12. — The "old-fashioned girl" is passing from the screen, as well as from life. Lois Wilson, who didn't smoke and didn't drink and had long hair, has been "bobbed." It was a case of "part for art's sake." If she wished to play the leading role in "The Great Gatsby," then off

AT THE CAPITOL NOW

Victoria's Only Exclusive Piano House—Knabe, Willis, Chickering, Ampico

Gertrude Huntley Green

Probably the first Canadian musician to be asked to record her playing exclusively for the "AMPICO." Victorians will, we feel sure, be delighted to know that while in New York recently she was accorded the signal honor of becoming an exclusive "AMPICO" artist.

The above means that all who own an "AMPICO," whether in Knabe, Willis or Chickering piano, may hear her at any time.

We would stress the fact that when you hear the "AMPICO" you will, like Mrs. Green, proclaim it vastly superior to other reproducing pianos, which was her reason for deciding to record her art only for the "AMPICO"

In Canada the "AMPICO" is only obtainable in the Knabe, Willis and Chickering pianos for which we are sole agents and we would esteem it a favor if you would, at your leisure, or by private appointment, visit us and hear Gertrude Huntley Green, Rachmaninoff and other great artists on the "AMPICO"

LITERARY NOTES

The English Speaking Union of the United States has adopted an excellent plan for doing honor to the memory of the late Walter Hines Page, American Ambassador in London during the Great War. It has established a Walter Hines Page Memorial Fellowship in Journalism. The first person to enjoy this distinction is Mr. Thomas A. Cadell, a Canadian who has been in the service of the foreign department of the London Times. During the next twelve months this young Englishman will work in his newspaper offices in various cities in the United States and will thus gain a knowledge of present conditions and problems in the Republic which he could not obtain in any other way. If there were arranged an exchange of newspaper men between Great Britain and the United States and Canada, more would be done to further Anglo-American and Anglo-Canadian friendship than has been attained by the Cecil Rhodes scholarship foundation.

Only the legal mind could extract any enjoyment from the pages of "Superstition or Rationality in Action for Peace" by A. V. Lunstedt, LL.D., Professor of Civil and Roman Law at the Royal University of Uppsala. This argumentative author endeavors to show, with what skill I cannot determine, that the so-called Law of Nations is only a baleful phantom. He holds that the legal ideas in the international province are nothing but survivals from primitive superstitions thousands of years old, and formed into the modern

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed
External treatments seldom cure Piles.
Nor do surgical operations.
The cause is inside—bad circulation.
The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.
The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.
J. S. Lombard, M.D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1,000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Vancouver Drug Company, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer. (Advt.)

"Law of Nations" by Hugo Grotius exactly three hundred years ago. A chapter heading shows the bent of this revolutionary jurist's mind—"The Superstitious Foundation of Municipal Law." The sub-heading is as follows: "The absurdity of the idea of the unlawfulness or the wrongfulness of crime and of the moral justification of punishment." This Uppsala rebel claims that as a science, current jurisprudence is simply useless. In his opinion the theory of public welfare is the only basis of law. This large volume of criticism is published by Longmans Green and Company, Toronto.

George Kelly's great Broadway success, "Craig's Wife," has won the Pulitzer Award of $1,000 for the best American play of 1925—the prize which the modest young Philadelphian so nearly won last year with his "The Show-off." "Craig's Wife," while his published in book form, is the story of a selfish woman who is "house crazy."

A World famous family of contemporary writers is becoming larger. Sir Philip Gibbs and his son, Anthony Gibbs, and his brothers, Conrad Hamilton (Gibbs) and A. Hamilton Gibbs, will welcome another member into their writing clan, in August, when Jeanette Phillips Gibbs, Boston-born wife of A. Hamilton Gibbs, author of "Soundings," has her first novel, "Portia Marries," published by Little, Brown and Company. Major Gibbs's new novel, "Labels," will be published in September.

"The High Adventure" Jeffrey Farnol's latest venture into the book lanes, the memorial halls—and the thrones—of old England, has climbed from fourteenth to seventh place on the list of nation-wide best sellers. Booksellers say that it is fully the equal of his famous success—"The Broad Highway" and "The Amateur Gentleman."

Oxford University recently conferred the degree of Doctor of Literature upon Sir Henry Newbolt, the laureate of the navy, and an authority in educational circles in the old country. Sir Henry is a many-sided author. In addition to poems and critical essays, he has written "Submarine" and "Andromarine," "Tales of the Great War," and other interesting books for boys.

The London Daily Sketch comments on the roving career of Ridgwell Cullum whose latest work, "Child of the North," has just appeared. The Sketch says: "After twenty years of adventure, Mr. Ridgwell Cullum, the novelist, has settled down to a quiet life at Richmond Hill in Surrey. At the age of seventeen he set out on his travels, and he has been in every corner of the globe, gold mining in the Transvaal, hunting tigers in the Canadian Northwest, cattle ranching in Montana, fighting in the Kaffir rebellion in Africa and in the Sioux rising on Pine Ridge. Then he brought himself to be a novelist. Every man's experience justifies one book. Mr. Cullum's could inspire a hundred and leave him something in hand."

Keating

Keating, July 12.—Mr. and Mrs. H. Lawrie and Miss Iola Lawrie of Giles Road, accompanied by Mrs. J. A.

Patterson and son spent the week end on a motor trip to Cowichan Lake.

Mrs. Colin Blaine has returned to her home in Seattle, after visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Russel, Giles Road.

Mrs. MacMullen of Vancouver spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. A. Gale, Stelly's Cross Road.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Kersey and family are camped at the Saanich Arm for a few weeks.

Mrs. H. Tanner and Messrs. Bill and Norman Tanner spent several days motoring up the island during the week.

Miss Eva Ambrose has returned to her home on Giles Road to spend the holiday after teaching in the Cariboo district for the past year.

Mr. Eric Bailey of Hollywood, Los Angeles, has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Styan, Central Saanich Road for the past week.

The directors of the Keating School Tennis Club are desirous of holding a tennis tournament in the near future and all players who wish to enter are asked to send in their names and membership fee, before July 24 of the secretary, Miss Iola Lawrie, so that the matter may be arranged.

An enjoyable dance took place in the Temperance Hall on Friday evening, when Ray Kiebeck's three-piece orchestra provided an excellent programme of popular music, a good crowd being in attendance. Supper was served during the evening after which dancing continued till 1 o'clock.

The South Saanich Farmers' and Women's Institutes will hold their regular monthly meeting in the Temperance Hall on Thursday evening, July 15.

members of the Canadian House of Commons promised Mr. Meighen support before he took office as Premier and then failed to fulfill that promise. Lord Byng's action in granting dissolution to Mr. Meighen after refusing it to Mr. Mackenzie King takes on a new complexion.

The paper continues that no matter what the constitutional merits of Lord Byng's decision are, it proceeded from an independent and impartial judgment. Downing Street, the publication says, had nothing to do with it and no Empire issue was developed in it. The Observer says it was a mistake, any governor-General, however selected, might have made it and it is one which Canada can and will put right for herself.

The names and situations in this story are fictitious.

He did not reply. Rising deliberately, he walked across the room, passing within an arm's length of her, opened the door, and went out. The latch clicked, and he was gone.

An hour later there came a tap at Morton's study door. He was inside, at his desk, writing.

"Come in," he said, shortly. A little figure in a quilted dressing gown, crept into the room. It was Audrey, her nose and eyes swollen with crying, her hair disordered.

"Well?" he said. "Oh!" she cried, stumbling forward, and falling at his feet. "Daddy, don't be so cold to me! I've been horrible! I know that—but don't you be horrible, too!"

He bent his head, and looked at the mop of fair hair that was buried in his lap. At last he raised his hand, and laid it on Audrey's head. She laid her head against his cheek, and in a moment the two of them were seated on the floor together, their backs against the chair, and their arms around one another.

"Dear child," he said. "I stab myself to the heart when I speak to you harshly. But Audrey, I don't want you to go the way she went!" He laid his cheek against her head. Nestling closer to him, she was quiet a little while. Then she asked: "Did you know my mamma very well?"

"Yes, I did," he said. "As a very young girl, she was the most charming creature I ever knew—except you. You and she might be twins. But she was willful, and she thought only of her own emotions—she would have been thinking, Audrey, and because she would not permit anybody to direct her course, she steered into shipwreck. Her upraised arm was bare, where the sleeve had fallen away, and Morton caressed the white flesh.

"Audrey, that's why I never have given you any orders—until to-night. And you remember what you did? She buried her face in his coat, she moaned. 'I guess I'm just bad. But daddy!' She sat up, and pushed the hair back from her eyes. 'Do you know what Mr. Nona had told me? He said that Nona had told him the only way to make me fall in love with him, was for him to flirt with her! And he's been doing it! Is your wonder I was angry at her?'

Morton rose to his feet, and held out his hand to assist the girl. She sat down in his revolving chair, and he stood over to a chaise longue that stood beside his desk.

"Audrey," he said, slowly, "that's just the sort of thing I was talking about. Learn to understand the other person's mind, and point of view, for those who love you. You never gave a moment's thought to Nona's problem, or to Parish's, did you?"

She looked at him, with dawning comprehension. "Still, she was interfering in my affairs," she said.

"There you go again," he said. "The less you think of the word 'interfere,' the happier you're going to be, and the happier your friends are going to be. Listen here, you know it. You never paid the slightest attention to him as a man, until you saw Nona flirting with him. She did it on purpose, of course, in order to interest you. And she succeeded. Do you know why she did that?"

Audrey assented. "I suppose it's because she's in love with you, and wanted to get rid of me."

"Precisely," Morton said. "At least, she thought it would please me if you became interested in Parish. If you had been in her place, and had known as much as she does, you'd have done exactly the same thing."

Audrey considered this point of view for a long time.

"Anyway," she said at last, "she made a quarrel between you and me. That was all her fault!"

Morton assented. "I love you," he said, "and if I were you, I'd go upstairs now, and pray for understanding and charity, for the sake of your own happiness."

"Suppose we cut out this dancing venture of yours for a while, and go back to Tacoma to-morrow night?" She came to him, hesitating. "Don't be angry at me, daddy dear! It all started because I love you. You know that!"

Morton, Audrey, and Parish arrived in Tacoma two mornings later. The sun was bright, and the warm breeze touched their faces softly as they alighted from the Pullman car. "Oh this air! This air!" cried Audrey. "Isn't it delicious?"

The car was waiting, but Morton told the driver to collect their baggage, and take it home. The three swung off toward home on foot.

"It seems an age since we went away," said Audrey. "I'm happier already."

"I think it will be very much better for you here," said Parish. She looked at him suspiciously.

"What do you mean?" she demanded. "I didn't like you to be around with those chorus girls, where you danced, and in that sort of company," he told her.

Her face colored with vexation. "I see you have constituted yourself my guardian," she snapped.

Parish looked at her with concern, and stammered. "Why—why, I beg your pardon."

She had been walking between the two men, but now she passed to Morton's other side. In silence, Morton wrapped in his own thoughts, and Parish looking anxiously from time to time at the girl, Audrey herself kept her eyes averted from the young man.

"Aren't those your next-door neighbors, sir?" asked Parish, as a man and woman approached them.

"Sure enough," said Morton. "I don't believe I've seen them in a month." The couple now was within a few paces. With a smile, Morton was lifting his hand to his hat, but stopped.

The man and woman swept by, their eyes fixed forward, without recognition, ignoring Morton's bow and Audrey's friendly nod.

CHAPTER XXXIV

"What's the matter with those people?" Audrey turned and stared after them, wonderingly.

"We're being high-hatted," Morton grinned. "I don't take the episode."

so lightly. "That was an insult," he said, with anger. "They didn't even look at Miss Morton!"

Morton glanced aside at him, in amusement. "They didn't look at us, either," he suggested.

The young man flushed. "That's different," he said. "Men don't care if people speak to them or not. Now with young ladies—"

"Young ladies don't care either," snapped Audrey. Those old stick-in-the-muds! They have that little nasty barking terrier, and if he ever comes in your yard again, you'll be a terrier."

Morton finished for her. "Don't be absurd. You can't hit a little dog because his owners don't speak to us."

Well, we ought to do something," Audrey argued.

"Why?" Morton apparently was enjoying the situation.

Parish interposed before Audrey could answer. "I think Miss Morton is right," he said. "I think you ought to call on those people and demand an explanation."

"That's a silly idea," declared Audrey.

Parish, his support thus rejected, was silent.

The little maid-servant opened the door, and she bobbed a courteous, smiling, with pleasure. Audrey stopped to talk with her, as Morton and Parish exchanged a few words in the reception hall.

When Parish left, Morton called Audrey into his study.

"I'm going down town in a few minutes, but I want to tell you something."

"I think I know what's the matter with those people next door."

"What?" Audrey was wide-eyed.

"Well, I took her to the restaurant, to the theatre, and to the hotel. She looks like a stage girl, you know. And I think I'm being boycotted because of it. You're suffering with me."

The girl's nostrils distended. "Why, the very idea! The impertinence of them!"

Morton smiled. "People are always impertinent, when it comes to other folks' morals."

Audrey's thoughts took a new direction.

Uncle Wiggily Goes Home

Copyright 1926 by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and his wife, the two country rabbits who had been visiting their city cousin, Mr. Hare, had decided to hop back home.

"This city life is too exciting for me," said the country rabbit lady, speaking to Mrs. Hare. "Why, when Nona sent me to post a letter, the other day, they sent a fire engine to get it."

"That's because he pulled the fire alarm box by mistake," said Mr. Hare with a laugh.

"Well, I think myself, that we had better go home," said Mr. Longears. "I have had a very good time here, but not what I could really call an adventure. I haven't once been chased by a fox."

"Do you call that fun?" asked Mrs. Hare.

"Not exactly fun, perhaps," replied Uncle Wiggily with a twinkle of his pink nose. "But it gives me something to think about, and to get away from a fox or Boh-Cat I must hop fast, which is good for my health."

"Well, come again and visit us," invited Mrs. Hare as Uncle Wiggily left.

"Alek's mother is heart-broken because of his mysterious disappearance from home and friends."

"MY LITTLE BOY—WHERE WHERE IS HE?"

"HERE'S A NOTE I JUST FOUND UP IN HIS ROOM ON THE FLOOR BACK OF HIS DRESSER."

"TO HIS MAMMA—TO HIS MAMMA!! ON—MY DEAR BOY!!"

"WELL—HURRY UP AND READ WHAT THE POOR BOY HAD TO SAY!!"

"YOU'RE SO BRAVE—YOU READ IT!"

"GOLD GOLD GOLD"

"WHAT HAS ALEK WRITTEN IN THE NOTE HE HAS LEFT BEHIND?"

"—NOW—NOW—DON'T GET MAD LIKE THAT—ALL I SAID WAS 'DOWN TO THE SEA IN SLIPS'—I DON'T THINK THAT'S SO BAD!"

"—I CAN'T STAND THIS MUCH LONGER!"

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, July 12 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—General Motors was one of the outstanding features selling at new high level of all time and stimulated early buying in the general list. In the rail department Southern Pacific and B. & O. sold at new high active demand was shown in reflection of its tonnage report published Saturday. The advance attracted considerable profit-taking, under which this issue faded. In the afternoon section was subjected to pressure by the floor professionals on the theory that a lowering in mid-continent crude may follow the downward revision of Penna. Crude Oil announced last week, and this had an unsettling effect on values in various sections.

New York, July 12 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—The Wall Street Journal's stock market edition this afternoon says: "Money market conditions continued to favor buying operations in stocks and further advances occurred in many sections of the list at the start of the new week. Saturday's clearing house statement showed an increase in deposits of $24,539,840, bringing the total to the comfortable aggregate of $20,551,640 in excess of legal requirements. This strength of the banking position encouraged groups operating constructively in various groups, and vigorous demonstrations were staged in many representative issues. General Motors was the outstanding feature of the industrial list, mounting to the best level ever achieved by the present shares."
